

Moms, Are You Setting a Bad Example for Your Kids?

Why tending to your needs first is not selfish and how it benefits your kids

Story Ideas

- Discover The Easiest (And Most Fun Way) To Boost Your Kid's Brain Power
- How To Foster Kids' Imaginations Without Plugging Anything In
- 5 Fun Ways to Get Kids Reading During Summer Vacation
- An Author's Heartwarming Mission to Reach At-Risk Kids (ties in with Christmas)
- The Balancing Act of Being a Mom, Wife, and a Dreamer: Lessons Learned and How Other Women Can Apply Them (or 5 Tips for Busy Moms to Go from Exhausted to Exhilarated) [ties in with Mother's Day or Women's Day]
- From Pushed to Published: How an Immigrant Became a Published Author
- April Is Poetry Month: Children's Author Inspires Kids to Write
- The Real Reason Publishers Are Making Children's Books Shorter and Other Shocking Secrets
- Was Donald Trump Read to As a Child?
- Stand Your Ground And Keep The Course As a Progressive Woman — Pushing Against The Stigmas, The Guilt, And The Naysayers

Sarah's Song

Written by Rosie J. Pova Illustrated by Emma Allen

© owned by Rosie J. Pova

Coming soon!

A story that celebrates imagination, the love of books, and new friendships!
Releases in Summer 2020

Rosie J. Pova Award-winning Children's Author, Speaker & Mom of three

A multi-published, award-winning children's author, speaker, and writing coach on a mission to inspire children not only to read and write more, but to use their creativity, follow their passions, dream big and believe in themselves.

Rosie visits schools and shares her inspirational journey as an immigrant from Bulgaria and how she became a published author, encouraging kids to persist, push through rejections, and hold a high vision for themselves.

Rosie's upcoming picture book, Sunday Rain, will be released in Fall 2020.

She's been featured on radio, TV, and in print.

BRAIN HACKER

Contact: rosie.pova@yahoo.com | Tel: 214-563-1633 (TX) | www.rosiejpova.com